VIRGINIA AND THE BIRTHDAY.

A Grand Historical Representation at Richmond.

A VICE-ROYAL COURT BALL.

Brilliant Display of Centennial Costumes by Lineal Descendants.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 22, 1876. The birthday of George Washington was never celebrated with more colar and enthusiastic display than it has been in the capital of his native State on this anniversary, occurring in the Centennial year of American

The lineal descendants of the forefathers of Virginia and the historical representation of those who did so much to achieve liberty of our country are to night assembled in the Richmond Theatre in a presentation of a Vice Royal Court ball at Williamsburg, of the time of Lord Botetourt, one of the Colonial Governors of Virginia The inhabitants of Richmond and, indeed, of the whole State are interested and enthusiastic in this grand pageant, and the theatre doors are thronged crowds seeking admission as early as seven o'clock. The house was crammed from pit to dome with the most brilliant assemblage ever seen in the building. Despite the inherent democratic spirit of the Virginians, there was a palpable incli-nation on their part to boast that pride of heraldry not exactly in keeping with the ideas of Centennial period. In the courtly colonial throng was discovered many a youthful "blood" and fair dame attired in the costume o over a century ago, who would willingly wear now the itle of "My lady," "My lord," "His grace," or "His highness." The opening scene was brilliant and re. splendent. The theatre was never se magnificently decorated. The throne occupied by Lord Botetourt was draped strictly after the style of the colonial period, and on all sides were suspended wreaths and festoons, the flags of Great Britain and Ireland, There was the Cross of St. George, the Union Jack, the lion and the unicorn, the Thistie, the Shamrock and the Rose; while prominently visible also was the flag of our own country. It is impossible to describe or even mention the historical relics that were displayed to-night, and they of themselves furnish a sad and serious source of regret that Virginia's Legislature refused to appropriate a paltry sum toward the exhibition of her own resources and historical reminiscences at the Nation's Centennial. Among the historical relics I would especially mention a cup borne by Mrs. General Harry Heth. This cup was carried by the mace bearers at the opening of the House of Burgesses, at Williamsburg, by all the colonial Governors after the reign of Charles the Secand, by whom the cup was presented to the colony of Virginia. It is a massive concern of solid silver bandsomely engraved, and liberally plated with gold. It bears the coat of arms of old England and the old. Virginia Colonial Coat of Arms. "Virtuet et Labore florent Ces publicae." To this is added the coat of arms which Charles II. gave to the State when he presented this cup with the motto "En Dat Virginia guartam." fruly such a valuable relic as this should be preserved for the Centennial. There were innumerable other relics of a century ago which it would be impossible to describe fully.

Mr. Page McCarty appeared as a courtier of the period of Queen Anne, and wore a large pure diamond brooch and imitation diamond shoe buckles, which were brought over by his ancestor, Lord Clan Carty,

THE COURT OF LORD BOTRTOURT.

A grand pageant of the old colonial times was represented on the stage of the theatre before the bill commenced illustrative of the reception of Lord Botetourt as Governor of the Colony.

HISTORICAL COSTUMES.

Mrs. General Heth, the principal of the lady managers, to whem great credit is due for the admirable management of the ball, appeared as Lady Cary in a dress 120 years old, which was imported to this country for a christening. It was of crimson brocade, figured with bright flowers over a white satin peticoat. Her husband, General Harry Heth, represented his ancester, Colonel Heth, a distinguished English officer and an aid to General Washington. He carried in his pocket letters of regard and confidence from General Washington (original), and on his waten chain wore a seal which the General West and afterward presented to Colonel Heth. General Heth,s uniform was copied from a portrait of his ancestor.

Lord Rotetourt was represented by Colonel R. B. Berkley, a lineal descendant.

George Washington Bassett, of Hanover, a lineal descendant of the General on both sides, appeared as "Colonel" George Washington, and wore a sword belt which formerly belonged to the Father of his Country. Lady Fairfax was represented by a lady who had in ter pocket a love letter from General Washington,

OTHER NOTABLE CONTURES.
Where everything was so faultiess and resplendant it is impossible to single out any special costumes, but I will attempt to give nome idea of what was worn on this famous Centennial accasion. Among the gentlemen, I would mention the costume of Mr. R. B. Berkley, who assumed the character of Lord Bottstourt, the Colonial Governor of Virginia. He wore a suit of blue, embroidered, and trimmed with scarlet and silver.

Mr. R. Taylor appeared as Patrick Henry, the orator of the Revolution, in a dress of dark green, which attracted great attention.

THE ADVISORY COUNCIL.

CONTINUATION OF THE CLOSED SESSIONS-THE CHURCH GENERALLY INDORSED-SHALL MR. BEECHER BE TRIED AGAIN?

At half-past nine o'clock yesterday morning the Advisory Council met again at Plymonth church, with Nelson Dingley, Jr., ex-Governor of Maine, in the chair. The regular order of proceedings was resumed, and the discussion of the committee's report on question No. 2, as published in yesterday's HERALD, was continued. The question was read by Dr. Dean, and the speeches were rather a display of friendly differences of opinion on un important details than expressions of positive dissent from the position taken by the committee, and, in conclusion, the report was adopted unanimously, though there was, after a seeming pleasant agreement had been reached, a somewhat heated talk in relation to the posiion taken by the committee in favor of the substitution of the "withdrawal of watch care and fellowshin" for "dropping." In the later discussion the Rev. H. M of the "withdrawal of watch, care and fellowship" for "dropping." In the later discussion the Rev. H. M. Storrs, President Porter, Dr. Dean, Dr. Bacon, President Sturievant and Dr. Parker participated, but the lirst conclusion was adhered to the sturievant and Dr. Parker participated, but the lirst conclusion was adhered to the several committee of nine members of the Sulent committee. The Moderator then announced that a committee of nine members of the Council had been appointed to harmonize the reports of the several committees, and make a final report of the results of the Council's deliberations, and the names were acceptable to the Council. Among them are those of President Porter, Ex. Governor Dingley, Professor Fairchild, Doctor Bacon and Prosident Sturievant.

Question No. 3, as reported on by the committee and printed in the Henald, was then taken up and the report considered. Then came a consideration of the other cases named in the other counts in the question, such as those who absented themselves like Tilton, Mrs. Moulton, Mrs. Bradshaw, Mr. Duncan, Mr. Reli, and others; what the proper course toward them should be?

On this proposition there was considerable discussion, which was participated in by Messrs, Sturievant. Bacon, Dean, Storrs, Parker, Porter, Abbott and others. At length, however, a vote was reached, and there were only eleven votes cast against the rule assumed and practiced thus far by Plymouth church. There was then read a communication from Plymouth church, requesting that there be given to Mr. Moulton an opportunity to present any new testimony he may have, whether verbal or documentary, anything which has not yet been made public; and the communication then took a recess until two P. M.

AFTERNOON BESSION.

Rev. Dr. Spaulding on the report on the fourth question declared himself strongly in favor of Plymouth church's action, and that, under the circumstances, no mutual council should be called.

The communication of Mr. West was also considered and ruled out of order as not properly before the Council for its serious consideratios.

and ruled out of order as not properly before the Council for its serious consideratios.

Dr. Wolcott made a report in relation to question No. 5. censuring Mr. Van Cott. The report on question No. 6 was then taken up. The committee say that Plymouth church has done all that was required, but seeing that the public and some of the churches seem to be not satisfied, the Council should present twenty names and have a committee of three selected to urge upon Plymouth church to select five persons who shall try the case again.

President Sturtevant said that he feit that Plymouth had siready done all that could be asked, and yet there was no doubt that there was a widespread teeling that something had been left undone which should have exemined Mr. Bowen and other witnesses who had not been called, and also that further effort should be made to set the question among those of the past.

should be made to set the question among those of the past.

General Brinkerhoff was opposed to any further investigation. He did not believe that any good could come of it. A decision in favor of Mr. Beacher would, to be sure, be unsatisfactory to some, no odds how thorough the investigation might be.

Without coming to any definite conclusion, the Council adjourned until half-past nine A. M. to-day.

It is believed that the Council will not reach the end of its work before Thursday night.

THE ANDOVER PROPOSITION.

THE ACTION OF THE CHURCH ON THE PLYMOUTH LETTER INDORSED BY THREE-FOURTHS OF

[From the Boston Journal, Feb. 21.] As an impression exists in certain quarters that the action of the church in Andover Seminary, embodied in the letter inviting Plymouth church to unite in calling a council of investigation was hastily taken and not fairly representative of the senuments of the church, your readers will be interested in the following exact statement of the facts in the case:-

The church comprises twenty-eight resident male nembers, seven of whom are professors in the sem inary, and also by vote acting pastors of the church. Although the possibility of the action taken had been before the mind of some of these acting pastors for many days or even weeks before it was finally resolved upon, the first meeting called expressly for consolved upon, the first meeting called expressly for con-sultation on the subject was held on Monday, the 7th inst., and was attended by all the acting pastors ex-cept one. Five hours' discussion resulted in the con-viction—strong on the part of five out of the six pres-cut, the sixth hesitating—that it was their duty to bring the matter before the church. Accordingly the next evening eight leading male members of the church were invited to meet the pastors for prelimin-ary conference on the subject. Only six of the pastors were present; but the seventh sent a note expressing himself as so far acquiescent as to refrain from opposi-tion; and that one of the six attending, who had not been present at the preceding conference, read to the were present; but the seventh sent a note expressing time; and that one of the six attending, who had not been present at the preceding conference, read to the meeting an elaborate argument against the measure contemplated. Again four hours and a haif were spent in discussing the subject, some of the lay members opposing, some advocating, some hesitating. The next day such theological students as are members of the church had the matter broached to them by three of the professional acting pastors in a colloquial interview occupying three hours. After the regular weekly church prayer meeting in the evening the subject was formally brought before the church, every resident member having received previous notice that it would be introduced. After unther discussion, extending through more than three hours, the question whether the church would at once proceed to invite Plymouth church to unite in convening the proposed council was put, and passed by a vote of eighteen in the affirmative to one in the negative. Three members present were undecided, chiefly on account of doubt respecting the expediency of immediate action. Of the six absent male resident members, one—viz, the protesting professional pastor above mentioned—was heard from again in another extended written protest, one (also an acting pastor) was non-committal, one was confined to his bed by severe illness, a lourth, known to be in favor, was called out of town, and the remaining two were understood to be opposed.

At an adjourned meeting held the next evening the draft of a letter prepared by a duly appointed commitmitee was submitted, and, after discussion, adopted. At the opening of this meeting one of the three members who at the preceding meeting had been undecided, requested that his vote might be recorded in the affirmative, thus raising the majority to nineteen squanst one; while one of the six recidents absent from that meeting, and reckoned above as opposed to the measure, voted in favor of the letter.

At a subsequent meeting here also prove been present at the preceding conference, read to the

MOULTON'S SUIT AGAINST BEECHER.

On Monday next there will be an argument in the Supreme Court, Kings county, before Judge Dykeman, n the demurrer entered in the suit brought by Francis D. Moulton against Rev. Heary Ward Beecher. The plaintuff will be represented by Generals Butler and Pryor and ex-Judge Morris. For Mr. Beecher, Messrs. Abbott, Tracy and Shearman will argue the case. Should the demurrer be overfuled the case can be tried in April, unless the defendant's counsel should appeal. In the latter event the trial will be procrastinated till rail.

AN ECHO OF THE SCANDAL TRIAL

Yesterday the Law Committee of the Kings County Board of Supervisors met at the Brooklyn Court House to consider the justice of the claim of the members of the Tilton-Beecher jury for extra compensation beyond the $2 per day ordinarily paid to jurymen. They served on that historic case for nearly six months, at served on that historic case for nearly six months, at great loss to their business from unavoidable neglect thereof, by reason of their daily attendance in the City Court, and they claim that an allowance of $5 per any would not over-compensate them or over-tax the Kings county public. Their counsel, General B. F. Tracy, read to the committee an opinion written by Hon. William M. Kvarts, in which that distinguished barrister holds that the set granting extra compensation to jurors is valid under the constitution, and the Titon-Beecher jurors have a right to demand compensation which the act provides. General Tracy answered a series of questions on the subject put to him by the Dr. Ross was the picture of dignity in a black velvet courtsuit of 1740.

THE PACIFIC MAIL SCANDAL.

ARREST OF RICHARD B. IEWIN FOR ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT-THE COMPLAINT MADE BY RUFUS HATCH-THE ACCUSED GIVES FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS BAIL.

The Congressional Pacific Mail scandal, which at one time caused no little uneasiness in the halls of national legislation in Washington, and which at the same time was the origin of Bill King's uncontrollable desire to find a $10,000 bill in Canada, is again before the public, invested with new life and energy, and bidding fair in the language of the stage to have a long run. The prime mover in the revivification of this remarkable case is Mr. Rufus Haich, who seeks this time not Congressional committees but a court of law wherein to develop the science of the lobby as alleged to have been practised in Washington in behalf of the Pacific Mail subsidy. The immediate object of Mr. Hatch's wrath is the former San Francisco agent of the com pany, Richard B. Irwin, who was arrested yesterday upon a warrant issued by Justice Bixby, based upon an affidavit by Mr. Hatch, charging him with the embezzlement of large sums of money.

THE SUBSIDY FUND.
The readers of the HERALD will remember that Irwin was summoned before a Congressional committee of investigation during the month of December, 1874 when he testified to having received from the Presi dent of the Pacific Mail Company the aggregate sum of $750,000, which was to be ex-pended in procuring the renewal of the government subsidy to the line. In the course that investigation the names of certain members of Congress, lobbyists and others were mentioned, and they were believed to have received money to influence or assist in the effort to secure the subsidy. The money was drawn by Irwin in checks, deposited in various banks and subsequently paid out as occasion called for it. There were six checks drawn, one for the sum of $650,000, the other five being for $20,000 each. At first they were made payable to A. B. Stockwell, who was then President of the company, and delivered to Vice President Bellows, who took them to the President's room. In a few minutes he returned and informed the Secretary, Mr. Johnson, that they were to be drawn to the order of Irwin. This was accordingly done and the original checks destroyed. The new checks were subsequently paid to Irwin on his indorsement. Mr. Johnson testified that he had no knowledge of the transactions involving these amounts, and that there were no entries in the books that any part of the $750,000 was returned. On the 21st of February, 1872, the Board of Directors ratifled the resolution issued at a previous miceting, authorizing the President, in his discretion, "to employ counsel and incur such other expenses as may be necessary in connection with measures for an additional subsidy now pending before Congress." After this the money passed into Irwin's

The recent examination of W. S. King, who was Postmaster of Congress at the time the money was paid out or used by Irwin, gave additional light on the mystery attending the disposition of the "Subsidy Fund," and it is believed that the arrest of Irwin on Ruius Hatch's complaint grew out of these developments. This latest phase of the case will undoubtedly lead to important results, as it will give opportunity for the introduction of considerable new evidence, as it is a criminal prosecution. Whether the revelations will effect men hitherto unsuspected, or whether the "subsidy money" will be traced through the hands it passed can only be determined by the examination which begins on Thursday. At all events the arrest of Irwin calls new attention to the old Pacific Mail scandal and will render it the absorbing topic in Wall street during the next few days. The recent examination of W. S. King, who was was issued on Monday afternoon and placed in the hands of Detective Elder of the Central Office. After some little difficulty the detective succeeded in learning the stopping place of Mr. Irwin, who only recently returned from Europe. It was in an uptown Fifth avenue mansion. Yesterday the officer, armed with the warrant, proceeded to the place. As he neared the house he saw the object of his search coming down the stairs, accompanied by an elderly gentleman. Approaching Mr. Irwin the detective called him aside and exhibited his warrant, of which the following is a copy:—

The Judge was found at home, and in answer to Mr. Irwin's interrogatory as to what ball was required, said that bonds to the amount of $50,000 were necessary. The prisoner thereupon sent word of his arrest to his friends, and within a short time several arrived. Mr. Robert G. Dun, of the firm of Dun, Barlow & Co., was accepted as his bondsman to the amount of $50,000, the Justice setting down the examination for Thursday afternoon next at four o'clock. The necessary papers having been duly signed, the prisoner was released from custody. He subsequently retained ox-Judge Fullerton as his counsel.

REV. FATHER ADAMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD :-

In last Sunday's issue of your luminous paper I no ticed an article headed "The Heroic Clergyman," whose name appears as the Rev. Thomas N. Adams, of Vincent de Paul's church, Brooklyn, E. D. From what is related of him I should fully concur in saying that he well deserves the title heroic to be attached to his name. To save the life of a fellow being from the pitlless waves, and that, too, at the serious hazard of losing his own, deserves no small amount of praise, He did it, it is true, as an act of love, but not that love which is begotten of earth, but that love which is inwhich is begotten of earth, but that love which is instilled in the hearts of the pure as the dew of heaven, which in all the springs of its auton peers only into upper air, onward to the throne of heaven, where the true record is kept of every noble action. Such only, I am sure, was the motive of the good priest in snaching from the awful deep, and a more awful future, the poor lady who sought to put a hand in her own destruction by jumping into the East River off one of the ferryboats on the lith inst.

But a generous public, which is never, as a rule, unmindual of those who have deserved well of their follow men, will not, I am sure, allow the present occasion to pass by without substantiating by acts, more elequent than words, its appreciation of this brave and never-to-k-longotten elergyman, who did not consider for a moment his station too exaited to imperil his life to save a fellow creature. Although a perfect stranger to the pattles I look upon the act as one so deserving of the public at large, that I enclose to you. If: Editor, the small sum of $2.50 to go toward raising a fund to be presented to the reverence clergyman as a token of the high appreciation which I, as one of the public. be presented to the reverence dergyman as a token of the high appreciation which I, as one of the publi-laye of his noble action. POLITICAL NOTES.

The Carson City (Nevada) Appeal does not see why Conkling would not be a good Presidential candidatefor the republican party.

Congressman Hiester Clymer, of Pennsylvania, in a peech at Reading, on the 12th, expressed the opinion that before the expiration of ten days the democratic members of Congress will come to a substantial agree ment on the financial question. This will be a good way of celebrating Washington's Birthday.

The Harrisburg Patriot (dem.) states that "the repub licans of Montgomery county have fired the first gun for President by instructing their delegates to the State Convention to support Governor Hartranft as Pennsylvania's choice for that high office. As Montgomery county is the home of His Excellency it will ot do to treat this action as a mere empty compliment on the part of his neighbors."

The Indianapolis Sun (greenback dem.) says that Governor Hendricks is straining every nerve to secure Judge Downey the democratic nomination for Gover-nor and that the Judge is a hard money man. Why not? asks the Evansville Journal (rep.) he had Mc-Donald elected to the United States Senate, and where could a harder money man be found?

Colonel A. J. Kellar, of Memphis, described as a wide awake newspaper man, has just returned from present Minister to France, is the coming man for President on the republican ticket. The Evansville Journal (rep.) thinks there will be a good many worse guesses than Colonel Kellar's.

The Evansville (Ind.) Journal (rep.) avers that

"Washburne has not been identified with any of the mistakes of Grant's administration, or of the party with which he has always been identified, and this will count strong in a close canvass. In taking a prophetic view of the political situation it will not do to leave Washburne out."

It is stated that Boss Shepherd, of Washington, put Conkling. Blaine and Morton forward as the Presidential candidates who have the best chance. The Congressional contest in the Third district, West

MORE MALFEASANCE

On Monday evening the Paterson (N. J.) Board of Alfermen presented charges against Tax Commissioner Thomas Bromley for maifeasance in office. The case will be tried by the Aldermen on the 3d of March. Bromley's alleged offences are similar to those for which Commissioner Hand was convicted.

LONG ISLAND.

The Lalance & Grosiean Manufacturing Company are already making preparations for rebuilding their manufactory at Woodhaven, a force of men having been put to work to clear away the ruins of the burned building on Monday, and her little boy, about two years old, was playing about the kitchen. She lifted a boiler of

A PATERSON CHARLEY ROSS.

Justice Benjamin Doremus on Monday night rescued from an unknown man, about two miles from Paterson, N. J., a little boy nine years old, who was being forci-N. J., a little boy nine years old, who was being forci-bly carried off in a wagon against his will. The kid-napper escaped The little boy, whose name was John-ny Hudson, son of William P. Hudson, of Mill street, Paterson, said the man told him he wanted him to go to work on a farm. When the lad relused and trued to get out of the wagon the man only drove the laster. The boy was enticed into the wagon by being asked if he did not want a ride. But lor his crying so hard as to attract Mr. Doremus' attention the boy would no doubt have been carried off.

HAND'S RETURN TO PATERSON.

After numerous unsuccessful attempts for release on writs of habous corpus and by similar legal delays, ex-Tax Commissioner James Hand, of Paterson, N. J., who was arrested a week ago in Richmond, Va., was yesterday morning safely lodged in the Paterson Jail. Hand, it will be remembered, ran away to evade sentence on a conviction for malfeasance in office. There was great excitement upon his arrival, and hundreds of the best citrons in the place called to see him. Few men have been more popular in Paterson, and he is generally looked upon as a scaneagest for more flagrant criminals. No one would like to see him sent to the State Prison, and yet it is believed Judge Dixon will so sentence him next Saturday. A great effort will be made to have his sentence mitigated.
